++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry morning, outbreaks of rain this afternoon. Turning colder later.

Today:
Dry this morning, with some sunny spells. This afternoon becoming cloudy with outbreaks of rain spreading southeastwards. Dry, clear and colder conditions follow across all areas by evening. Windy initially, especially over high ground, but gradually winds ease a little. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry and clear initially, allowing temperatures to quickly fall, close to freezing in rural inland areas. Overnight cloud will increase as scattered showers, some heavy, arrive on the northerly wind. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Sunday:
Scattered heavy showers initially, perhaps thundery. Gradually sunny spells will develop as the showers become more isolated. Highest temperatures along the coast, but feeling noticeably colder everywhere with brisk winds. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Largely dry, often cloudy, but some breaks allowing clear or sunny spells. Cold Monday, temperatures closer to normal Tuesday. Wednesday outbreaks of rain probably spreading south, introducing colder air again.
